The Competition

The Thermoset Resin Formulators Association (TRFA) developed the Excellence in Thermoset Polymer Research competition to encourage and recognize advances in the science, engineering, and technology of thermosetting polymers and their formulations, used in a variety of industrial applications such as adhesives, sealants, electronic encapsulants, coatings, composites, and molding compounds. It is intended to provide student researchers with visibility and exposure to potential future employers.

Who is eligible?

The competition is open to all BS, MS and PhD students at an accredited college or university in the USA and Canada.

How to Participate

- Entries must be in the form of research papers in the traditional scientific journal format.
- The research topic should be related to Thermoset Polymer Science and Technology.
- Submit a completed entry form and your research paper to TRFA Headquarters at info@trfa.org, or via online form. Your entry form must be received no later than Friday, November 4, 2022 to be considered. Your paper must be received no later than Friday, December 9, 2022 to be considered.
- Although complete papers are required for judgment process, the award winner is NOT required to publish the paper in meeting materials and on TRFA website.
